My Favorite Fictional Characters

A Journal With Prompts

My Favorite Fictional Characters

Copyright 2021 Kate Hill

Cover Created at Canva.com

Hello!

Like many people, I've always loved fictional characters. For as long as I can remember, they have brought me happiness and comfort. They have inspired my creativity, and they have often helped me understand myself. It's a wonderful feeling when you open a book or watch a movie or television show and you meet a character who touches your heart. Sometimes it's a hero, and other times it's an antagonist. Many times it's not even a main character, but a secondary character you connect with. If you're a writer, it's common to keep profiles of your characters to help with development and consistency, but to me that's not the same as journaling about the characters I've fallen in love with. When I searched for a journal with prompts to write about my thoughts and feelings about characters who've touched my life, I couldn't find quite what I was looking for, so I created My Favorite Fictional Characters for my own pleasure.

I hope you find this journal to be helpful, useful, or just plain fun. Please let me know if you've enjoyed using it, or if you have any comments or suggestions about what you might like included in future editions. I can be reached at katehill2@yahoo.com. Visit me online at kate-hill.com.

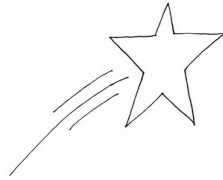

Thank you for trying My Favorite Fictional Characters.

Peace and joy!
