Character Interview Information (Please Read):

To help save time with formatting, please do not make changes to the interview template. When replying to the questions, type directly below the question.

Example:

Where are you from?

I'm from a distant galaxy.

Speaking as your character, answer at least 5 of the interview questions, but feel free to answer as many as you would like. Please delete any questions you don't answer. At the end of the interview, fill in your book and author info.

Please keep the formatting in this file, but feel free to embed your purchase and author links. If you would like to include your book cover, teaser, and an author photo, please do not embed them in the file, but send them as separate attachments.

Posts can be pasted into the body of an email or attached. If attaching a file, please name it authorname_yourblogdate

If you would like to include book covers (up to 3) and/or an author photo, please do not embed them in the file. Send them as separate attachments. Due to copyright issues, please do not include quotes from books/movies/music that are not your own, photos or images other than your book cover, teasers you have rights to, and/or author photo. Please do not include links to uploaded copies of works that are not your own. If such photos, quotes, or links are included, they will be deleted from the post.

Do feel free to include or embed links to your website, social networks, and purchase pages.

I no longer run contests or giveaways on my blog. If you have a contest on your own website or blog, feel free to include a link to it, but contests on my blog itself will no longer be posted. This includes contest codes.

It's helpful if you return the interview to me at least 5 days before your scheduled guest blog date, but if you need more time, I'm flexible.

Thank you very much for being a guest!
